Hexol[®] Lubricants are now available in Cyprus and Bosnia-Herzegovina

Our ongoing efforts to expand Hexol[®] Lubricants' market to include new countries and territories has been met with success. As of recently Cyprus and Bosnia-Herzegovina are countries amongst which Hexol[®] products will be available in.

In Cyprus, the Manolis family runs a family business with a long-standing tradition, well known to locals, in distributing industry specific products. The company's name is Safety Plus Ltd. and they will be our new Cypriot partner.

On the other hand, in Bosnia-Herzegovina we started our collaboration and partnership with TrgoOil d.o.o., a newly founded company in 2013. However, it is the continuation of a well-established business in lubricant distribution having multiple retail outlets throughout their covered territory.

We salute our new partners as they join the group of Hexol[®] distributors and we are confident they will be successful in their endeavor and we will have a fruitful collaboration in the years to come.

"We appreciate the characteristic traits of our new partners as being authentic values of theirs. I am referring here to their experience in the business, based on tradition and their dynamic and energetic characteristics." – relates Daniel Condratov, company president for the newest press release.

Our goal to enhance company exports into new territories is met with success, but the process continues, as we kick off negotiations with new potential partners in Central Eastern Europe.
